Swiss Taxation Treatment

The following summary on Swiss Taxation does not purport to address all tax consequences of the Securities and is not intended to be, nor should it be construed to be, tax advice. This summary does not address any tax consequences of an investment in the Securities in any other jurisdiction than Switzerland. Since this summary does not consider the specific tax situation of an investor, prospective investors are advised to consult their personal tax advisors as to the tax consequences of the purchase, ownership, sale or redemption of the Securities including, in particular, the effect of tax laws of any other jurisdiction.

Swiss Income Tax
(Federal Direct Tax)

Please note that the following information about Swiss income tax is only applicable for private investors with tax domicile in Switzerland, holding the Securities as part of their private assets from a Swiss tax perspective (Swiss resident private investors):

The Securities with an initial leverage of at least 4 are considered as future contracts for Swiss tax purposes. Any gain/return realized with such futures during the term of the Securities or at redemption should qualify as tax exempt capital gains for private investors. The Swiss tax treatment of Securities with initial leverage smaller than 4 at issuance is depending on the term of such Securities as such Securities are considered as "false" future contracts. If the term is maximum 365 calendar days, no interest component is subject to income tax based on the current Swiss tax practice. However, if the term of such Securities is more than 365 calendar days or an unlimited term, an interest component For "false" future contracts with a term of more than 12 months, the interest component is subject to Federal Direct Tax at the time of a Knock-out-Event or at Redemption. The amount of the interest component will be assessed by the Swiss tax administration based on a market-conform interest.

The tax treatment regarding cantonal and communal income taxes might differ from the tax treatment regarding the Federal Direct Tax. However, in general the tax treatments should correspond.

Swiss Withholding Tax

The Securities are not subject to Swiss Withholding Tax.

Swiss Stamp Duty

Secondary market transactions of futures (see "Swiss Income Tax") are in general not subject to Swiss Securities Transfer Tax ("Umsatzabgabe"). The Swiss stamp tax treatment of "false" future contracts (= Securities with initial leverage less than 4) is depending on the term of such Securities. If the term is maximum 365 calendar days, secondary market transactions are in general not subject to Swiss Securities Transfer Tax. However, secondary market transactions of "false" future contracts with a term of more than 365 calendar days or an unlimited term are in general subject to Swiss Securities Transfer Tax.

Automatic Exchange of Information in Tax Matters ("Automatischer Informationsaustausch")

Switzerland agreed with various countries and the European Union to implement the Automatic Exchange of Information in Tax Matters ("AEOI") as of 1st January 2017 and is negotiating the introduction of the AEOI with further countries whereby the Automatic Exchange of Information has been and will be extended to other countries. The website "www.sif.admin.ch" provides an overview of all partner states Switzerland has signed an agreement for the introduction of the AEOI. In this context the EU Savings Tax for Swiss paying agents and the Final Withholding Tax with UK and Austria have been repealed as from 1st January 2017.

Section 871(m) of the U.S.
Internal Revenue Code of 1986

Transactions and payments related to this Security may be subject to additional (foreign) transaction taxes duties and or withholding taxes in particular a withholding tax pursuant to the Section 871(m) of the U.S. Internal Revenue Code. All payments from this Security will occur with any applicable taxes and duties deducted. The Issuer is not obliged to pay additional amounts with regard to amounts so withheld. Please refer to the Security Documentation for detailed information.

This summary of the tax treatment applies at Issue Date and reflects the Issuer's understanding of current law and practice in Switzerland relating to the taxation of the securities. The relevant tax laws and/or regulations and practice of the tax authorities may change at any time, possibly with retroactive effect. Any investor shall be liable for all current and futures taxes and duties resulting from an investment in the Securities. The Issuer hereby expressly excludes any liabilities in respect of any tax implications arising thereof.

II. Profit and Loss prospects

Market expectation	Investors in these Securities expect the price of the Underlying to increase.
Risk tolerance	Investors in these Securities should have sufficient knowledge and experience with transactions in derivate products and the equity markets. Investors must be willing to make an investment that is exposed to the leveraged full down-side risk of the Underlying performance. If at any time on or after the Issue Date the price of the Share as determined and published by the Relevant Exchange is at least once equal to or below the Knock-out Barrier, the Security shall expire worthless and no Redemption Amount will be paid.
Profit prospects	Potential profit from an investment in the Securities is not limited.
Loss prospects	Investors may suffer a partial or total loss as they bear the leveraged full downside risk of the Underlying performance.
Other factors	Investors should note that the value of the Securities is not only subject to the development of the prices of the Underlying but is also subject to other factors that may negatively influence the price of the Securities.

III. Significant risks for investors

The description of the risks set out below only mentions some risks that the Issuer considers to be the major risks as of the date hereof.

Product-specific risks

In addition to the risks set out in section II. (Profit and Loss Prospects), the following risks apply:

Investors are not entitled to receive any dividends paid on the Underlying and the terms and conditions of the Securities will only be adjusted for distributions and other corporate actions relating to the Underlying in certain limited circumstances.

The investor bears the risk that the Redemption Amount is below the purchase price of the Security. The lower the Reference Price of the Underlying on the Valuation Date, the greater the loss.

The Redemption Amount depends solely on the difference between the Reference Price and the Strike applicable on the Valuation Date. In this connection it has to be noted that the Strike of the Security is adjusted on a daily basis by an Adjustment Amount which is determined once a month.

If the applicable Adjustment Amount is a positive amount, the Strike of the Security will increase. All other variables being held constant, this will lead to a decrease of the intrinsic value of the Security and to a decrease in the price of the Security. The Risk Premium as a component of the Adjustment Amount will always have a value-decreasing effect on the Redemption Amount payable.

If at any time on or after the Issue Date a price of the Underlying is at least once equal to or below the Knock-out Barrier, the Securities shall expire worthless. The investor will incur a loss that will correspond to the full purchase price paid for the Security (total loss).

No automatic payment of the Redemption Amount represented by the Securities is scheduled. Any payment of the Redemption Amount is contingent upon the Securities either having been called for redemption previously by the investor or having been terminated by the Issuer by virtue of an ordinary or extraordinary termination notice.

The investor should note that a call for redemption of the Securities is possible only with effect as of definitive dates. In between these dates the economic value represented by the Securities can be realised solely by virtue of a sale of the Securities.

In addition, the investor bears a currency exchange risk as the amounts that are not expressed in the Issue Currency will be converted at the currency exchange rate on the Valuation Date.

In addition to the product-specific risks highlighted above, investors are exposed to the market risk and other risks related to the Underlying. Consequently, investors must independently inform themselves about and assess such risks and they have to form their own view on the expected development of the Underlying.

Volatile secondary markets and limited liquidity

Investors should expect that market prices for the Securities will be volatile, depending upon the development of the price of the Underlying, interest rates, remaining term of the Securities and other factors.

Liquidity of the Securities and/or the Underlying in the secondary markets may be limited. There is no obligation of the Issuer or the Lead manager to make a market in the security. There can be no assurance that a secondary market will develop for the security or that it will subsist.

The price at which the Security may be sold in the secondary market may be less than the intrinsic value of the security and less than the amount originally invested. It may be possible that the Security cannot be sold at all in the secondary market.

Deviation of Issue Price from market value

The Issue Price may be more than the market value of the securities on the Issue Date and the price, if any, at which any person may be willing to purchase this Security in a secondary market transaction may be lower than the Issue Price. In particular, the Issue Price may take into account commissions in relation to the issue and sale of this Security as well as costs in relation to the hedging of the Issuer's obligations under this Security, and secondary market prices are likely to exclude such amounts.

Risks relating to the Issuer

The value of the Securities is not only subject to the performance of the Underlying, but, among others, also to the credit rating and solvency of the Issuer which may be negatively affected during the terms of the Securities.

In addition, investors are exposed to the general risk that the Issuer's financial situation may worsen - and that the Issuer may be subjected to a reorganisation proceeding (Reorganisationsverfahren) or transfer order (Übertragungsanordnung) under German bank restructuring law or that insolvency proceedings might be instituted with regard to its assets - and therefore attainments due under the Securities can not or only partially be done. Under these circumstances, a total loss of the investor's capital might be possible.

The securities constitute direct, unconditional and unsecured obligations of the Issuer, ranking pari passu with all other unsecured, unsubordinated obligations of the Issuer, save for obligations preferred by operation of law. They are neither secured by the Deposit Protection Fund of the association of German Banks (Einlagensicherungsfonds des Bundesverbandes deutscher Banken e.V.) nor by the German Deposit Guarantee and Investor Compensation Act (Einlagensicherungs- und Anlegerentschädigungsgesetz).
